The findings show that European e-learning stakeholders attach considerable importance to quality but that there are still obstacles that need to be overcome before direct improvement in the quality of education can be made. The survey also analyses the current situation in relation to the development of quality:

knowledge, experiences and the capacity to deal creatively with quality approaches. The concept of quality competence is introduced and is empirically contextualised.

'Autonomous language learning in tandem offers an account of the largest-ever European initiative in the development of autonomous learning. At the conclusion of the project, students from more than 20 countries were working as partners, either face-to-face or on the Internet, to develop their own - and each other's - language skills. Other benefits for learners included heightened intercultural awareness and an enhanced ability to manage their own learning.' -- cover.

This is a story told by a boy in his thirteenth year, recorded in his secret diary. His life is about to change; his world, about to open. He lives in Montedidio—God's Mountain—a cluster of alleys in the heart of Naples. He brings a paycheck home every Saturday from Mast'Errico's carpentry workshop where he sweeps the floor. He is on his way to becoming a man—his boy's voice is abandoning him. His wooden boomerang is neither toy nor tool, but something in between. Then there is Maria, the thirteen-year-old girl who lives above him and, like so many girls, is wiser than he. She carries the burden of a secret life herself. She'll speak to him for the first time this summer. There is also his friendship with a cobbler named Rafaniello, a Jewish refugee who has escaped the horrors of the Holocaust, who has no idea how long he's been on this earth, and who is said to sprout wings for a blessed few. It is 1963, a young man's summer of discovery. A time for a boy with innocent hands and a pure heart to look beyond the ordinary in everyday things to see the far-reaching landscape, and all of its possibilities, from a rooftop terrace on God's Mountain.

The 8 essays included in this selection have not been chosen in order to trace the evolution of Montaigne's thought since other anthologies following upon the invaluable work of Pierre Villey, have made this their aim; the editors have preferred instead to present the reader with as complete a picture as possible the fruits of Montaigne's development, namely his 'sagesse'. A synthesis of 'sagesse' is given in the introduction to this edition and there are also a Chronology, which is closely linked to the essays selected, abundant notes on the text, an extensive glossary. The undergraduate will thus find within one volume all the material necessary for a full understanding of these essential essays.
